

Help team members feel right at home

Include just-for-them features in your new hospital.

Animal Medical & Surgical Center

in Scottsdale, Ariz., has a conference room that doubles as a staff lounge.

A plasma screen on an adjacent wall is networked with all the computers in the hospital so that digital radiographs and other images can be displayed for CE. The naturally lit room is also a pleasant retreat for staff lunches.

Employee restrooms and lockers: Each of the staff restrooms are equipped with individual lockers so team members can stow away their personal belongings during the workday. The lockers were custom-designed by a millwork manufacturer.

Mailboxes: In order to ensure the efficient flow of information, each team member has his or her own mailbox that holds memos and handouts. Staff members check their mail as they arrive for work each morning.
